

POSITION

Student/Early Career Representatives on AGU Council

The AGU Council has created six positions for students and early career scientists. Students and early career scientists represent a large percentage of AGU membership and bring a forward-looking perspective to the Council and to AGU. The student/early career representatives to the Council serve as advocates to their peers from the organization and to the organization from their peers.

The Council partners with the AGU Board and staff to shape and lead AGU and geophysical sciences into the future. The Council's three distinct roles:

1. Policy formation (honors and recognition, editor criteria, sections/focus groups, etc.)
2. Idea generation/science deliberation
3. Advisor/sounding Board (science and member issues)

TERM

2 years (can be reelected or reappointed for up to 3 consecutive terms)

PARTICIPATION & TIME COMMITMENT

Attendance at, and participation in, council meetings

NOTE: What follows is the current annual meeting schedule of the AGU Council; however, it is under discussion and 2014 will be a year of experimenting with a new model. More information on meeting dates will be provided after the AGU election results are known in the fall.

- The Council meets electronically for 2 hours 4 times each year:
 - March
 - Mid-June
 - Early September
 - Mid-November
- The Council meets face-to-face 1 time each year:
 - December (1 day) in conjunction with the Fall Meeting (San Francisco)
- Full participation requires reading background material in advance and assisting with preparing agenda items as requested

Participation in online Council collaboration site, including discussions and collaborative documents

Participation with students/early career scientists who are AGU members in order to bring a well-informed opinion to Council discussions. This includes participating in events at the Fall Meeting geared toward students and early career scientists.

Participation in committees and/or work groups as assigned

The time commitment can vary widely from week to week. Weeks including meetings and/or travel require significant engagement, while other weeks might require responses to an email or an online discussion. This job requires a level of awareness of and responsiveness to ongoing Council work.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Support direction of AGU and help engage members

- Advance the vision, mission and strategic plan of AGU.
- Partner with the Governance Committee to fulfill AGU's commitment to exceptional governance.
- Articulate, safeguard, model, and promote AGU's core values and principles.
- Maintain awareness of emerging issues that could impact the science and AGU, especially issues facing students and early career scientists.
- Serve as a conduit of information between AGU leadership and students/early career scientists.
- Help mobilize and engage students/early career scientists.
- Bring a unique perspective, while keeping in mind your responsibility to act in the best interests of the organization, not any particular constituency or discipline.

Build relationships internally and externally

- Champion AGU and Earth and space sciences to all constituents and publics.
- Work for AGU student/early career members to feel included in AGU by getting a sense of their perspectives, disseminating information to them, and supporting efforts to offer resources to them.
- Network with other students/early career scientists to be well informed of emerging issues in that membership segment.
- Encourage others to get involved in volunteering at AGU.
- Utilize staff expertise.
- Get to know other Council members and key staff.

Be an active member of the AGU Council

- Prepare for, attend and actively participate in all Council meetings.
- Be knowledgeable about the bylaws, policies, strategic plan, and governance responsibilities of the AGU Council.

- Abide by the code of conduct.
- Follow the conflict of interest policy and disclose any potential conflicts of interests.
- Support ongoing science, outreach and development activities of the Union.
- Function at a strategic, not tactical, level.
- Be cognizant that the authority rests with the Council as a collective body, not to any one individual member.
- Participate in Council orientation and be knowledgeable about effective governance.
- Participate in periodic evaluation of the Council's performance and contribute to ongoing improvement of AGU governance.
- Help prepare and lead Council agenda items as requested.
- Set a good example for the inclusion of AGU student and early career members in AGU leadership.
